ATLANTA BRAVES

1971 Guide for Press, Radio and Television

This year marks the Braves' 100th anniversary in professional baseball. Born in 1871 as the Boston Red Stockings, the team has been housed in three cities and won 12 National League pennants. The 1914 and 1957 Braves were World Champions, while the 1969 team won the Western Division Championship.

Hank Aaron, chosen by the fans to be the Greatest Brave Ever, should reach another exciting milestone this season when he connects with his 600th career home run.

The Braves in the World Series

1914—Boston 4 games, Philadelphia 0

Manager George Stallings' 'Miracle Braves,' who climbed out of the cellar in July to win the pennant, swept Connie Mack's great Philadelphia Athletics in four games. The Braves were built around the pitching trio of Dick Rudolph, Bill James and George Tyler and the second base combination of Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville. Catcher Hank Gowdy, who batted .243 for the season, had a .545 average for the series, with a homer, triple, three doubles and a single for the series.

1948—Cleveland 4 games, Boston 2

The Braves under Billy Southworth won their first National League pennant in 34 years, but lost the series to Lou Boudreau and the Indians. Gene Bearden, Navy veteran of World War II, was Cleveland's pitching hero. Bob Feller allowed Boston only two hits in the opening game but lost it to Johnny Sain, 1-0. Boston's only other victory was in the fifth game, 11-5, as Bob Elliott smashed successive homers off Feller.

1957—Milwaukee 4 games, New York 3

Sensational Lou Burdette won three victories and pitched 24 consecutive scoreless innings to defeat a New York team that was making its eighth Series appearance in nine years under the leadership of Casey Stengel. Warren Spahn was the winning pitcher in Milwaukee's other victory. Eddie Mathews' tenth-inning homer won the fourth game after the famous Nippy Jones shoe polish incident. Burdette started the seventh and final game after Spahn was felled by the flu, and with only two days rest, pitched a 5-0 shutout.

1958—New York 4 games, Milwaukee 3

The Yankees, gaining revenge for their defeat the previous year, carried the Series to seven games and then won one of their greatest triumphs in Series play. They became only the second team in history to come from a three-games-to-one deficit and win the classic. Hank Bauer led the Yanks with ten hits and eight runs batted in, while pitcher Bob Turley won the fifth game, saved the sixth and won the seventh. Warren Spahn won two victories and Lou Burdette one for the Braves.

The Braves in the Championship Series

1969—New York Mets 3 games, Atlanta 0

Atlanta became the first Western Division champion by winning .769 per cent of its games in September, finishing the year with a 93-69 record. New York then swept the three-game Championship Series from the Braves. The Mets scored five runs in the eighth inning to take the first game in Atlanta, 9-5. The following day, six Atlanta pitchers failed to stop the Mets as New York won 11-6. Then in the final game on Oct. 6 at Shea Stadium, Wayne Garrett's two-run homer in the fifth finished the Braves' hopes, with the final score, 7-4.

Hank Aaron — OF — No. 44

Henry Louis Aaron. Born Feb. 5, 1934 at Mobile, Ala. Bats and throws right. 6-0, 180. Graduated from Josephine Allen Institute, Mobile, Ala., 1951. Married Barbara Lucas, Oct. 3, 1952. Has four children: Gail, born Nov. 5, 1953; Hank, Jr., Mar. 10, 1957; Larry, Dec. 15, 1957; Dorinda, Feb. 5, 1962. Lives in Atlanta. Acquired—Signed by Boston Braves scout Dewey Griggs after Braves purchased his contract for $10,000 from Indianapolis Clowns of Negro American League, June 14, 1952.

Early in the 1971 season Hank Aaron should become the third player in history to accumulate 600 career home runs. Hank starts the season just eight homers away from the 600 mark, which has only been reached by Babe Ruth (714) and Willie Mays (628) in the past. Ruth hit his 600th on August 21, 1931, at age 36, while Mays hit his 600th on September 22, 1969, at age 38. Aaron will be age 37 this season . . . On May 17th last season in Cincinnati, Aaron got a single in his first time at bat during the second game of a doubleheader against the Reds at Crosley Field. It made him the eighth player to have 3,000 career hits and the first player ever to have both 3,000 hits and over 500 career homers. Wayne Simpson was the pitcher for the Reds. Aaron's 3,001st hit came in his next time at bat in the same game and was the 570th homer of his career . . . Hank appeared in his 2,500th big league game last July 6 and collected his 1,800th career RBI on July 21 . . . Aaron's 30th homer of last season (on August 1) set a National League record for most seasons with 30 or more homers at 12 . . . Last season Henry extended his own Major League records of most years with 150-or-more games with 14 and most years with 100-or-more runs at 15. He tied Major League records last year for most seasons with 100-or-more extra bases on long hits at 16 and for most consecutive seasons with 20-or-more homers at 16. He also tied the National League record for most years with 100-or-more RBI at 10 . . . His grand slam homer on April 10 last season was the 13th grand slam of his career, placing him first among active players and one short of Gil Hodges' National League record . . . He holds the National League marks of most seasons with one-or-more homers in each NL park at nine years (1954-60, 1963 and 1966) and for going to bat 600 or more times for ten years . . . He is tied for the NL record of most seasons with 40-or-more homers at six . . .

In last year's voting by the fans to select the All-Star Teams, Aaron's 1,394,847 votes were more than the number received by any other player in either league. It was his 13th consecutive All-Star Game selection . . . He was voted Most Valuable Player in the South Atlantic League in 1953 and the Most Outstanding Rookie in the Northern League the year before . . . He was the Braves' MVP in 1954, 1955, 1957, 1959 and 1967 and has been captain of the team since the beginning of the 1969 season . . . Hank received the Gold Glove Award as the league's top fielding right fielder in 1958, 1959 and 1960 . . .He and Eddie Mathews set the Major League record for home runs by teammates with 863 (421 by Aaron, 442 by Mathews) in 1954-66, breaking the record of 793 by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig . . . Aaron was selected as the 17th recipient of the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award by Phi Delta Theta for 1970, signifying the Major League player who "most exemplifies the character and courage" of Gehrig . . . On June 8, 1961, Mathews, Aaron, Joe Adcock and Frank Thomas set a Major League record for consecutive homers by teammates in the seventh inning at Cincinnati . . . Going into the 1962 season, only two players (Babe Ruth and Joe Adcock) had ever reached the center field bleachers at the old Polo Grounds with a homer. That season rookie

Lou Brock of the Cubs did it on June 17th and then Aaron did it the next night against pitcher Jay Hook of the Mets . . . In the opening home game of the 1970 season, Aaron hit a homer off the Giants' Frank Reberger into the upper deck in left field at Atlanta Stadium. It was the first homer ever in the left field upper deck at the Stadium, only the third ever anywhere in the upper deck of the Stadium and the first ever by a Brave . . . Hank hit three homers in a game on June 21, 1959, and has had two in a game 47 times, five hits in a game three times and four hits in a game 43 times . . . He had batting streaks of 15 or more games ten times—25 games in 1956 and 1962, 22 in 1959, 19 in 1960, 18 in 1967, 16 in 1964 and 1965, and 15 in 1957 (twice) and 1958 . . . Hank's Major League career pinch-hitting record is six-for-29 for a .207 average with one pinch-hit homer on July 8, 1962 . . . Hank ranks third among all active Major League players in career hitting with a .311 lifetime average, placing him behind Rico Carty at .321 and Roberto Clemente at .313 . . . AARON IS 19 HOMERS OFF RUTH'S PACE

Hank Aaron, considered the best among active players to reach Babe Ruth's record 714 home runs, is in terms of comparable age just 19 homers and a little more than two months, off Ruth's pace.

Aaron's latest homer, No. 592, came last October when Hank was 36 years old. Ruth also hit his 592nd at the age of 36, in July of 1931.

Ruth, who was born Feb. 6, 1895 (Aaron's birthday, by coincidence, is Feb. 5) had at the time of No. 592 played one season more than Hank. Ruth was 19, Hank 20, at the time of their big league debuts.

Because of today's 162-game seasons and Ruth's five years as a Boston Red Sox pitcher, however, Hank has played in 496 more games, and gone to bat 2906 more times, than Ruth had at the end of the 1931 season.

By averaging 30.5 home runs for four years, Aaron could equal Ruth's 714 home runs.

Babe Ruth's Last 123 Homers, Nos. 592-714

Although Ruth hit 46 in 1931, only the last 20 are shown.

Tommie and Hank Aaron form the best homer-hitting brother combination in the history of big league baseball. The two start the 1971 season with 605 career home runs (13 of them by Tommie) to place them ahead of the DiMaggio brothers, who had 573 as a trio in the Majors . . . Tommie got four hits in four trips to the plate in the game, including a double and the game-winning homer. Atlanta won the game 2-0 . . . His second homer last season came in the first game of a doubleheader against the Cubs on July 20 when he replaced Carty in the lineup as a pinch runner and then hit the two-run homer to win the game 3-1 in the bottom of the ninth inning . . . He was the All-Star first baseman in the Texas League in 1961 . . . In 1967 he was voted Most Valuable Player in the International League . . . He hit his only big league grand slam home run on August 4, 1962, vs. the Phillies . . . In 1969, he was 3-0 after a week and a half of the season, winning all three games in a total of six innings of relief work . . . Last season he had two four-game winning streaks during the year and one five-game losing streak . . . George was 8-2 in his first pro season in 1966 and was in the right place at the right time in 1967, attending Georgia State University in Atlanta and working out with the Braves, when an opening became available on the big league roster. He did not appear in a game the first time he was activated to the Braves' roster during the 1967 season, but he came back to pitch in two games for Atlanta that year after being farmed out to Austin and Richmond when his classes at Georgia State ended. Two seasons later he was in the regular Braves' starting rotation . . . George is a third cousin of Braves' relief pitcher Cecil Upshaw . . . Stone was an All-State baseball and basketball player while in high school in Louisiana, and he was named All-Conference in basketball while attending Louisiana Tech . . . His one-game strikeout high in the Major Leagues is ten vs. the Cubs on April 30, 1970.

He was one of the National League's top relief pitchers in 1968 and 1969. Rated by the Sporting News method of awarding one point for a save and two points for a victory, Upshaw ranked eighth among relief pitchers in the National League in 1968 and third in 1969 . . . Hoyt Wilhelm P No. 39

James Hoyt Wilhelm. Born July 26, 1923 at Huntersville, N. C. Bats and throws right. 6-0, 190. Graduated from Cornelius, N. C., High School, 1942. Married Peggy Reeves, Sept. 19, 1951. Has three children: Patti, born Nov. 11, 1953; Pam, May 12, 1955; Jim, Sept. 24, 1957. Lives in Columbus, Ga. Acquired—Traded by the Chicago Cubs for infielder Hal Breeden, Dec. 1, 1970.

Hoyt Wilhelm has appeared in more games than any other pitcher in the history of big league baseball. With his 48th birthday coming up on July 26 this season, Hoyt starts the year with a record 1,042 Major League appearances . . . He became the first player ever to pitch in 1,000 games on May 10, 1970, against the Cards in Atlanta and was honored for the accomplishment at a special Aaron-Wilhelm Night last May 26 at Atlanta Stadium . . . He holds the Major League relief pitching records for most games (990), most victories (123), most saves (223), most innings pitched (1,825) and most strikeouts (2,334) in relief . . . Hoyt originally came to the Braves on waivers from the California Angels on September 8, 1969, and he then went on to win two games and save four as the Braves clinched the NL Western Division title that year . . . He was claimed on waivers from the Braves by the Cubs on September 22, 1970, but returned to the Atlanta roster in exchange for Breeden this winter . . . Despite the fact that he has appeared in more games than any other big league pitcher, he pitched ten years in the Minor Leagues before reaching the Majors, was twice sold on waivers 12 years ago and was given up in the 1968 expansion draft . . . His 13 saves were the most on the Braves' staff last season and his 3.12 ERA for Atlanta was the lowest on the team . . . Although he did not appear in the game, he was selected to the National League's pitching staff for the 1970 All-Star Game which took place 12 days before his 47th birthday . . . If he had appeared in last year's All-Star Game, he would have become the second oldest player ever to play in the All-Star classic—just 19 days younger than Satchel Paige was when he appeared in the 1953 game . . . He started his career for Mooresville of the Class D North Carolina State League in 1942—seven years before Braves' catcher Bob Didier was born . . . He missed three seasons while in military service from 1943 through 1945; he was a staff sergeant in the army and was awarded a Purple Heart after being wounded in the Battle of the Bulge . . . Hoyt returned to Mooresville after World War II to become a 20-game winner twice, and he eventually won 107 Minor League games . . . He was purchased from Minneapolis of the American Association by the Giants for $2,500 in 1952 and came to the big leagues for the first time, where he was converted to a relief pitcher by his manager, Leo Durocher . . . He won 15 and lost just 3 in 1952 to become the only rookie ever to lead a Major League in both percentage (.833) and earned run average (2.43). He pitched in 71 games to set a record for rookies and was second in the Rookie of the Year balloting to Joe Black . . . In the 1954 World Series sweep of Cleveland, he relieved Ruben Gomez in the third game and retired the last five hitters in a row . . . Wilhelm was traded to

St. Louis for Whitey Lockman on February 26, 1957, then sold to Cleveland on September 21, 1957, and sold to Baltimore on August 23, 1958 . . . He became a starting pitcher in 1958, and in his ninth Major League start, he pitched a 1-0 no-hitter against the Yankees on September 20, 1958 . . . The next year Hoyt threw a one-hitter on May 22, 1959, against the Yankees with Jerry Lumpe getting the only hit . . . Wilhelm led the AL in ERA in 1959, becoming the only pitcher to lead both leagues in earned run average . . . He was traded by the Orioles on January 14, 1963, to the White Sox along with Ron Hansen, Pete Ward and Dave Nicholson for Luis Aparicio and Al Smith . . . His last Major League start was on September 7, 1963, against Minnesota . . . For the White Sox, Hoyt ran off a great string of ERAs—1.99, 1.81, 1.66, 1.31 and 1.73 . . . On July 24, 1968, he pitched in his 907th big league game, breaking Cy Young's record of 906 which had stood since 1911 . . . Hoyt was selected by Kansas City in the American League expansion draft on October 15, 1968, and was traded by Kansas City to California for Dennis Paepke and Ed Kirkpatrick on December 11, 1968 . . . His 3.40 ERA for the Braves and Cubs last season marked the first time his earned run average climbed above 2.64 since 1960 . . . He and Mike McQueen were the only two Braves pitchers to face every NL opponent in 1970 . . . Hoyt had a career high of 27 saves in 1964 . . . His American League ERA is 2.19 while his National League ERA is 3.08 . . . He set a Major League record for consecutive errorless games by a pitcher with 246 from 1963 to 1968 . . . He hit a home run in his first time at bat in the Majors . . . Over his career Hoyt has pitched for Managers Durocher, Bill Rigney, Fred Hutchinson, Kerby Farrell, Bobby Bragan, Joe Gordon, Paul Richards, Luman Harris, Billy Hitchcock, Al Lopez, Eddie Stanky, Les Moss, Lopez again, Rigney again, Lefty Phillips and Harris again . . . Figuring the average bull pen is 200 feet from the mound, Hoyt has walked 38 miles coming in to relieve in his 18-year big league career.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR PITCHING CHAMPIONSHIP—Lowest ERA and 162 or more innings pitched.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A SAVE—Credit a save to a relief pitcher who enters the game with his team in the lead if he holds the lead the remainder of the game, provided he is not credited with the victory. Only one save can be credited in any game.

DETERMINING THE MAGIC NUMBER—Determine the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the lost column of the standings from the closest opponent.

SUMMER FREE AGENT DRAFT will be held on June 8 and 9 this year.
